- (2) Access to advanced telecommunications services.

(f) In addition to the services included in the definition of basic service, the commission may designate additional services for support through the universal service fund for schools, libraries, and health care providers for the purposes of subchapter 7. §6-81-52 High cost area. (a) The commission may designate a given geographical or exchange area within the State as a high cost area. A high cost area is one in which the cost of providing basic exchange service is high in comparison to the cost of providing basic exchange service in other areas of the State.

(b) A determination that a given area is a high cost area may be made upon the written petition of any interested person filed with the commission or upon the commission's own motion. The necessary disparity between the cost of providing basic exchange service in a given area and the cost of providing basic exchange service in the rest of the State to qualify the given area as a high cost area shall be determined by the commission on a case-by-case basis. In determining whether an area should be deemed a high cost area, the commission shall consider the following factors:

- (1) The cost of providing basic exchange service per access line in the area by the current provider of the service;
- (2) The statewide weighted average cost of providing basic service per access line;
- (3) The presence or absence of effective competition in the area for the provision of basic service;
- (4) The area's remoteness and rural quality;
- (5) The area's topography and geographic size;
- (6) The number of residences or households and businesses in the area;
- (7) The number of residences or households in the area that do not subscribe to exchange service;
- (8) Benefits to the public interest; and
- (9) Any other factors deemed relevant by the commission.

An area is not a high cost area unless the cost of providing basic service per access line in the area is more than one hundred twenty per cent of the statewide weighted average cost of providing basic service per access line.

(c) In delineating the boundaries of a proposed high cost area, the commission shall consider:

- (1) The current exchange boundaries;
- (2) Maintenance of the integrity of areas served by common switching equipment and associated engineering functions;
- (3) The inclusion of adjacent areas, comprised of low cost or profitable customers, that may be appropriately served by the same switching equipment; and
- (4) Any other factors deemed relevant by the commission. [Eff _____] (Auth: HRS §§269-6, 269-35, 269-38, 269-41 to 43)

§6-81-53 Proceeding to determine an area as a high cost area. (a) Any petition to have an area declared a high cost area must:

- (1) Address the factors set forth in §6-81-52(b); and
- (2) Describe the boundaries of the proposed high cost area, taking into account the factors set forth in §6-81-52(c), and include any maps.

(b) A copy of any petition or commission order to determine whether an area should be declared a high cost area shall be served on:

- (1) The administrator of the universal service fund; and
- (2) The consumer advocate.

The administrator of the universal service fund shall notify all contributors to the universal service fund in writing of the petition or order. The commission shall cause to be published a written notice of the petition or order in a newspaper of general circulation in the State and in a newspaper published and generally circulated in the county in which the proposed high cost area is situated.

(c) The commission may conduct a public hearing or hearings in the area affected by the petition or order. It may also hold an evidentiary hearing. In any evidentiary hearing, the following persons shall be parties:

- (1) The current telecommunications provider of basic exchange service in the area;
- (2) The consumer advocate;
- (3) The administrator of the universal service fund; and
- (4) Any other persons allowed by the commission to intervene as parties or to participate.

(d) Upon review, the commission may declare the whole or a part of the area as a high cost area, or it may determine that no part of the area should be declared a high cost area. [Eff ]

§6-81-54 Carrier of last resort - general.

(a) The commission shall designate a single telecommunications carrier as the carrier of last resort for a high cost area. Such carrier is the ultimate carrier responsible for ensuring that all persons in the high cost area are provided with basic service. It shall provide such service either using its own facilities or a combination of its own facilities and resale of another carrier's service, including the service offered by another telecommunications carrier authorized to provide basic service in the high cost area. The carrier of last resort is also the only carrier eligible for subsidies or disbursements from the State universal service fund for the provision of basic service in the high cost area.

(b) Nothing in subsection (a) precludes any other telecommunications carrier, designated by the commission pursuant to 47 U.S.C. §214 and §6-81-9, from providing basic service in the high cost area through the support mechanisms of the federal universal service fund.

(c) The carrier of last resort is subject to the applicable requirements of chapter 6-80, including the provisions on access, interconnection, resale, unbundling, and network termination and the provisions on access to poles, ducts, conduits, and rights-of-way, unless otherwise provided in this chapter or ordered by the commission.

(d) The commission, from time to time, shall:

§6-81-54

- (1) Review the carrier of last resort's provision of basic service to the designated high cost area; and
- (2) Review and determine the continuing necessity for designating the area as a high cost area and for designating a carrier of last resort.

§6-81-55 Carrier of last resort - selection.

(a) The commission shall select the carrier of last resort for a high cost area through a bidding process. The commission shall formulate specifications for providing basic exchange service in the high cost area and prepare a solicitation for bids. The commission shall cause a notice of the bid solicitation to be published, at least once, in a newspaper of general circulation in the State and in a newspaper published and generally circulated in the county where the high cost area is situated. Any telecommunications carrier certified or authorized to provide telecommunications services in the State, including any carrier temporarily certified to participate in the bidding process, may submit a bid. The successful bidder shall provide basic exchange service in the high cost area in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in the specifications and as otherwise required by the commission.

(b) The commission shall consider the following factors in determining the successful bidder:

- (1) Ability to adhere to the requirements of the specifications;
- (2) Quality and level of service to be provided;
- (3) Investment commitment;
- (4) Qualifications of the bidder;
- (5) Cost to the customers in the area;
- (6) The amount of the subsidies required;
